

Xtivia Announces Partnership with Sybase, Inc., focused on Business Intelligence and Analytics

Edison, NJ — (April 21st, 2009)— Xtivia, Inc, a successful national IT Business Solutions provider company based in Edison, NJ; has announced partnership with Sybase, Inc (NYSE: SY), a world-leading enterprise software company based in Dublin, CA. The foundation of this new partnership is Sybase IQ, a highly optimized analytics server designed specifically to deliver faster results for mission-critical business intelligence, data warehouse and reporting solutions, and which can be deployed on all standard hardware and operating systems & Xtivia's experienced services including Virtual-DBA.

Sybase IQ represents the most mature & feature-rich column-oriented analytics offering in the marketplace today, as well as the fastest analytics server in the world.

With enterprises today facing constrained IT budgets, more than ever smart corporate decision-making depends upon the ability to support sophisticated, real-time analytics on large volumes of data, without sacrificing profit margins. By coupling Xtivia's proven solution delivery track record and Sybase IQ's WW market-leading position as the analytics server of choice, this partnership provides their joint customers of assured success in meeting these challenging business requirements.

"Selecting Sybase as our business analytics partner was an easy decision. With Sybase IQ, we can now accelerate the ability of our customers to make business decisions dramatically faster - without any interruption to their current platform", says Dennis Robinson, President of Xtivia. "We intend to leverage Sybase IQ to help clients enjoy faster results from their Business Intelligence systems. By dramatically improving efficiency within a client's data warehouse, Xtivia gives our customers the ability to make better decisions, faster than ever before. Sybase IQ platform coupled with our Virtual-DBA solution, provides our customers the right solution at the right time."

Jay Foreman, Senior Vice President and General Manager for Sybase North America said, "The addition of Xtivia as a Sybase partner, given their established and excellent reputation as a successful solutions provider & their Virtual-DBA service, is truly a welcome addition to the Sybase family of partners. It is also a vote of confidence in Sybase IQ and its market leadership in business intelligence and data warehouse solutions. We are excited to be working with Xtivia on behalf of our customers."
